

THE VALUE OF RPA MEMBERSHIP

Get the solutions, guidance, and information your business demands.

RPA is comprised of manufacturers, distributors and other specialists involved in providing creative packaging solutions for the retail market. RPA members represent all entities of retail packaging nationwide and abroad.

RPA offers sales opportunities for manufacturers of packaging products, and distributor member benefits such as the hosting of an annual trade show for comprehensive educational and networking opportunities, client referrals, discounts on business services, scholarship opportunities for students and more.

Why Our Members Love RPA...

"An RPA membership means you are connected to companies that wish to innovate and grow. Packaging is a creative and innovative industry which cannot be fostered in isolation. Opportunities present themselves at gatherings like the RPA annual conference. I've always walked away with more than what I arrived with."
